

Federal Communications Commission

To Whom It May Concern:

Is there something wrong with the way radio stations in this country are being run? I know there are some that could be on the verge of offensive to most people.

I myself listen to K-Love radio in Oklahoma City and if you do what you are proposing with these new regulations it could mean the end for many of the stations that provide this kind of programming.

In this country we are guaranteed the right to freedom of religion and freedom of speech. I think most people in this country would agree with me, that putting the existence of these stations into the hands of someone with their own agenda is the wrong thing to do.
